AUSTRIANS SIGN TREATY; RUMANIA DELAYS SIGNING

Polk, White and Bliss Sign Document For U. S. Government.

NO HOSTILITY APPARENT IN BRIEF CEREMONY WEDNESDAY

Rumanian and Jugo-Slav Envoys Await Orders From Governments.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The delegates of Rumania and Jugo-Slavia did not sign the treaty of peace between the allied and associated powers and the Austrian Republic at 10:15 o'clock this morning. The supreme council, it adds, has given them until Saturday to make known their definite intention.

St. Germain, Sept. 10.—Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian delegation to the peace conference, signed the treaty of peace between the allied and associated powers and the Austrian Republic at 10:15 o'clock this morning.

When all the delegates present had placed themselves at the round table, Dr. Renner was introduced with the same formality that was observed when the Germans entered the hall of mirrors at Versailles on June 28. Georges Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, then rose and opened the session, asking Dr. Renner to affix his signature to the treaty and annexes and announces that the delegates would then be called in the order in which they were named in the preamble of the document.

Dr. Renner bowed and smiled graciously as he approached the table and bowed and smiled again to the delegates after signing.

Frank L. Polk, who succeeded Secretary of State Robert Lansing as head of the United States delegation signed after Dr. Renner and was followed by Henry White and General Bliss.

Neither Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain or Colonel E. M. House of the United States delegation was present.

The signing of the treaty was finished at 11:15 o'clock. M. Clemenceau then made a brief announcement that the session was closed.

President Clemenceau of the peace conference, Dr. Karl Renner, head of the American peace delegation, the weather man and all the peace conference delegates were in the best of humor for the signing of the treaty.

The 12 miles ride from Paris through the bright calm, warm autumn morning put all participating into a good mood for the simple ceremony which was singularly without formality and which seemed much like a neighborhood gathering.

There was hostility of any kind shown when Dr. Renner smilingly entered the small stone age hall.

He nodded politely as he took his seat at the end of the U-shaped table about which the delegates were grouped.

There was no harshness in the voice of M. Clemenceau, as he announced in a few words the purpose of concluding.

Dr. Renner rose while M. Clemenceau's remarks were being translated into German, and then bowing graciously followed the master of the ceremonies to the table in the center of the room where he attached his signature four times to the treaty. He then returned to his seat at the end of the hall where he remained at ease, while representatives of 25 powers attached their signatures.

There were no soldiers in the hall and only a small guard of honor in the court of the chateau.

DAWES NOT PARTNER OF GENERAL PERSHING

New York, Sept. 10.—Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes denied emphatically a story, originating in Chicago, that he would be associated with General Pershing in the organization of a new banking house in Chicago which would rank with that of the Morgans.

"There is absolutely no truth in the report," said General Dawes. "I do not know where the story came from but this is the first I have heard of it."

Although the deserted husband held her hand, Mrs. Ollie Brigman of West Springfield, Mass., endeavored to embrace the man with whom she had run away to Newark as he was being led from police court to the county jail this morning.

The Brigman family, living in New Springfield, the police were told, had taken into their home, East Fifth, at a time when he was without funds and friends. He became a favorite with the family, especially with Mrs. Brigman, so much so that she took a machine in which her husband claims to have invested $150 and $300 in his money and they came to Newark.

JOHN MITCHELL CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known Labor Leader Succumbs After Operation for Gall Stones—Headed Mine Workers.

New York, Sept. 10.—John Mitchell, author and lecturer, and one of America's foremost labor leaders, died suddenly late yesterday at the Post Graduate hospital.

He was operated upon last Tuesday for gallstones, and up to a very short time before his death he was reported to be improving.

Mr. Mitchell had been unconscious for several hours before his death. His wife, son and daughter were at his bedside when the end came.

Governor Almon E. Smith, who had many years ago come to the hospital a few minutes before his death.

Mr. Mitchell was born at Brookwood, Ill., Feb. 4, 1870. At 10 he had to leave school and go to work, but he continued his education, studying at night. Later he studied law for a year and then took up the study of economics. He married Katherine O'Rourke of Spring Valley, Ill., June 1, 1891.

Mr. Mitchell came into greatest prominence as president of the United Mine Workers of America. He directed two strikes of the mine workers in 1900 and 1902. At the time of his death he was chairman of the New York state industrial commission. He was widely known as a lecturer on trades unionism and also had written several books and pamphlets on labor subjects.

KEPT VIGIL WITH HIS GIRL; COPS GOT HIM

The love affair of George Kreljick, 27, an Austrian, living at 112 Webb street, got him into grief and jail last night.

Kreljick was arrested for prowling and peeping in windows in North Fifth street. But he was armed with an alibi.

He showed the police a letter, signed by "Ethel," which told him to come to North Fifth street, at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday evening and that she would take you to the house. He had Ethel's picture and while it did not portray the girl he said he had been there and was hunting for the house, when some one reported him to the police.

His case was dismissed in police court this morning.

FIRST DIVISION VETERANS MARCH IN GREAT PARADE

Every Unit of Organization With All Equipment Is In Line

GENERAL PERSHING LEADS TROOPS IN GOTHAM STREETS

Great Ovation Is Given the Veteran Who First Engaged Enemy.

New York, Sept. 10.—Countless thousands of Americans, flushed with the pride of victory, paid tribute here today, in what probably was the city's most impressive military spectacle to the nation's leader in the world war, General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force, and to the far famed First division.

The sun-burned Missourian, looking as fit as a youthful Indian despite his 59 years—the soldier who said to the shade of Lafayette at his tomb in Paris: "Lafayette, we are here," and whose 1,250,000 troops, the largest force of Americans ever to fight on foreign soil, turned the tide of possible allied defeat into victory—today led down Fifth avenue 22,000 men of the First division in a procession which stirred the blood of every spectator.

Ahead of tattered veterans, mostly "regulars" who had been abroad nearly two years and a quarter, and whose fighting was the admiration of every poilu and British Tommy, was General Pershing's guard of honor, a regiment of 3,000 men picked from all seven of the American regular army divisions in France. This unique contingent, known as "Pershing's Own," and composed of two companies from each regiment of the division represented, the companies in turn being formed of one squad from each company in the regiment, was a special feature of the parade.

Accompanying General Pershing at the head of the division were Major General Edward F. McGlachlin, commanding, and with him two other former commanders of the First. Major General William L. Sibert, who took the troops to France and Lieutenant General Robert L. Bullard who took them to the United States, were also present.

There were a host of other officers, including Brigadier General Frank Parker of Charleston, S. C., and other commanders some of whom saw first active service with the division in France.

The troops in line represented 47 states of the union and several of the insular possessions and among the marchers were more than 4,000 "old time" doughboys whose only recorded home is the United States army. Trudging along under the weight of full combat equipment, every pack in place, rifles clean and bayonets gleaming in the sun, the fighters presented a picture of aggressiveness and force. From 110th street, where the parade started, to the Washington arch, where it disbanded, the throngs along the curbs kept up almost tumultuous cheering.

"There comes the Sixth field artillery," someone shouted. A few moments later this famous organization, Battery C of which on October 23, 1917, fired the first shot at the Germans, came into sight and was wildly acclaimed.

Delegations of home folks from Southern New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, and Eastern Pennsylvania, whose 2,790 sons or kinsmen were in the First division, were on hand to do them honor along with the men from other sections of the country. Many of these fighters, members of the 18th infantry, wore the French fourragere the red and green cord signifying that the Croix de Guerre with plam had been twice conferred for conspicuous gallantry in action. The fourragere was bestowed upon the 18th by Brigadier General Edward F. McGlachlin.

CARDINAL IS TOUCHED BY WARM GREETING

New York, Sept. 10.—Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's gallant churchman, arrived here yesterday bringing to America the thanks of the little country in whose tragic history he has played so heroic a part. As the venerable prelate stepped for the first time on American soil he was asked for a message to the American people.

"I can only say 'Thank you!'" he replied his voice quivering with emotion. "What else is there for me to say?"

As soon as the gangway on the transport which he arrived on had been run up, Mayor Hylan and the official welcoming committee, Archbishop Hayes and a number of other church dignitaries, who had accompanied the transport up the bay on the police boat Patrol, boarded her and officially welcomed the guest of the city and nation. The cardinal was then escorted from the transport to the Patrol, on which he was taken across the river and thence by automobile to Archbishop Hayes' residence.

As the cardinal stepped onto the dock there was a pause and a band swung into the stirring strains of "La Brabançonne," the national anthem of Belgium. As the first strains fell on the ears of the aged prelate, he faltered and took a step backward, apparently overwhelmed with surprise. He recovered himself and a radiant smile crossed his face. With a sweeping bow he drew himself up to his full, imposing height and remained standing thus until the playing had finished.

Cardinal Mercier will go to Baltimore tomorrow to visit Cardinal Gibbons, with whom he will stay some days. Afterward he will return to New York and later visit Albany and Boston. A Western tour, ending on Nov. 5, will bring his visit to an end.

VETERANS OF 4 WARS MARCH IN G. A. R. PARADE

Heavy Rain Storm Drives Marchers Temporarily to Shelter—Civil War Men Only Ones to Finish Parade.

Columbus, Sept. 10.—Mighty warriors of four American wars today joined in the victory parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is holding its national encampment here. G. A. R. officials said it was the biggest parade of civil war veterans in the past decade.

Never before had the "boys of '61" invaded veterans of other wars to march with them in their annual parade. In the line of marchers were several hundred veterans in machines, but thousands of them marched proudly behind their flags and fife and drum corps.

Heroes of the Spanish-American and European wars, glad of the opportunity of doing homage to the fast dwindling ranks of Civil war fighters, paraded behind the battle flags they carried on the fields of Europe.

The veterans ranged from mere youths who served in France to the grizzled veterans, nearly all of whom have passed the allotted three score and ten.

In the line, which stretched for miles, were the deep blue uniforms of the Mexican and Civil wars, the lighter blue of the Spanish war veterans, the natty blue and white of the navy and the familiar khaki of the recent war.

The marchers passed through seething masses of humanity which taxed the capacity of the streets. Thousands witnessed the procession from buildings and windows. Flags were in great repair everywhere.

Cheers and shouts greeted the boys in blue as they trudged past with steamed shoulders and faltering steps. Enthusiasm ran high as the younger veterans, head erect and eyes snapping, passed with firm tread.

The marching veterans were reviewed by Clarence E. Adams of Omaha, commander in chief of the Grand Army, by past commanders and by Governor Cox. The reviewing stand was in front of the state house.

George A. Hosley of Boston, chief of staff of the G. A. R. led the parade with former Brigadier General John C. Speaks of Columbus. Fourteen bands, including the crack United States army band from Columbus Barracks, furnished music. Scores of fife and drum corps were in line.

No women marched in the parade. Wives and daughters of the veterans

HARVARD STUDENTS TAKE PLACE OF BOSTON COPS

Boston, Sept. 10.—Governor Coolidge early this afternoon called out the Fourth brigade of the state guards, made up of the 10th, 12th and 15th regiments, and the machine-gun company of the 14th regiment. The troops were ordered to report to Mayor Peters forthwith.

Boston, Sept. 10.—Lawlessness was rampant in Boston today. Without adequate police protection private citizens were forced to use their resources to protect their lives and property.

Since the police struck at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon there has been no organized police power able to cope with the situation that last night approached anarchy and today appeared to grow most serious.

Last night the city was virtually abandoned to the hoodlum and criminal. For some reason not publicly explained, the volunteer force which it had been expected would go on duty when the police quit, was not called out until this morning. The banks and larger mercantile establishments were at the mercy of mobs which included in their number all elements from the purely mischievous to the downright criminal. Store windows to a number estimated at 300, were smashed in and goods by the armful carried away. The authorities placed the damages done during the night at $300,000.

A large force of volunteers including nearly 100 Harvard students and former athletes, started to patrol the streets about the city and to assist the state and metropolitan park police detailed here.

STORM SWEEPS COAST OF FLORIDA; WIRES OUT

New York, Sept. 10.—Reports reaching the offices of the Western Union Telegraph company here today said that all wire communication south of Miami, Florida, had ceased as a result of the severe storm raging along the southern coast of the West Indian Islands. A gale of at least 100 miles an hour was blowing, the report stated.

The weather looked unfavorable early in the day, and no doubt had much to do with the attendance. But the clouds broke away before noon and there was every indication that the day's program would be carried out according to schedule.

Today's program included the showing of bloodied horses entered in this department and the judging of the animals. The poultry judging also was to be disposed of during the day.

The speed program included the 2:13 pace, the 2:25 pace, and the 2:30 trot.

45 AMENDMENTS

committed has had 47 working days. Doman, for one, in the most important subject that ever came before the senate of the United States, the report says, were "largely the work of the administration and its newspaper organs."

A second demand for haste, the report says, came from certain great banking firms which had a direct pecuniary interest in securing an early opportunity to reap the harvest, in the adjustment of financial obligations of the warring countries. The third was in the "unthinking outcry of many excellent people who desired early action and for whom it had not been possible to get the words 'League of Nations' which they believed to mean the establishment of eternal peace."

"To yield helplessly to this clamor," declares the report, "was impossible to those to whom was entrusted the performance of a solemn public duty."

Recalling the senate's responsibility as equal with the president's, the report recounts at some length the difficulties the foreign relations committee experienced in getting information on the treaty, being obliged to send to Paris for days, being compelled to get "imperfect information from press reports," and having at its disposal few official documents.

Confidential treaties having a bearing, the report says, the committee was unable to get. Of the sum of information received in conference with President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, the report remarks:

"The people themselves know how much information in regard to the treaty was received by the committee upon those occasions."

While criticism for delay has been aimed at the foreign relations committee, the report finds out, no action has been taken by France, Jaan or Italy. The argument that the treaty speedily should be ratified, that trading with Germany might begin, the report dismisses as "rather faded," and declares the United States has been trading with Germany since the signing of the armistice in increasing volume. The statement that the treaty cannot be resumed until the treaty is ratified is characterized as a "more decision."

The first amendment offered by the committee relates to the league. It is proposed so to amend the text as to secure for the United States a vote in the assembly of the league equal to that of any other power. Great Britain now has under the name of the British empire, one vote in the council of the league. She has four additional votes in the assembly of the league for her self-governing dominions and colonies, most properly members of the league and signatories to the treaty. She also has the vote of India, which is neither a self-governing dominion nor a colony, but merely a part of the empire and which apparently was simply put in as a signatory and member of the league by the peace conference because Great Britain desired it. Great Britain also will control the votes of the kingdom of Hejaz and of Persia. With these last two, of course, we have nothing to do. But if Great Britain has six votes, the league assembly no reason has occurred in the council of the league for her to be a member and no argument has been made to show why the United States should not have an equal number. If other countries like the present arrangement that is not our affair, but the committee failed to see why the United States should have but one vote in the assembly of the league when the British empire has six.

"Amendments 39 and 44, inclusive, transfer to China the German lease and rights, as they exist, in the Chinese provinces of Shantung, which are given up in the treaty to Japan.

The following states and marine, many of whom had just received their discharges. Next came the veterans of Cuba and the Philippine Islands. Many of these veterans were civilian clothes. All of these units received their share of applause, but the crowds seemed to go mad with enthusiasm as the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic filed past. The first of the older veterans were cavalry men, who rode erect on horses. Then came the line after line of marchers.

On coming after company of the veterans passed by, groups of states. Before the parade was more than half over a heavy rainstorm broke. The long line of marchers at first wavered and then broke, the veterans seeking shelter. Thousands of the veterans were drenched to the skin. The storm came suddenly, without much warning. The first intimation was when it suddenly became nearly dark.

In a few minutes the streets, which had been packed with marchers and lined eight and 10 deep with spectators, were nearly empty.

Undaunted by the rain, some of the G. A. R. veterans continued to pass. Others sought shelter until the worst of the storm was over, and then reformed their lines.

Soon after the heavy rain was over contingents were forming in every side street. Numerous bodies of veterans were soon marching and counter-marching, but all of them found their way past the reviewing stand in front of the statehouse. The G. A. R. veterans were the only ones who reformed their lines and continued their parade.

"The United States declines to assume the provisions of Article 10, or under any other article, any obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country, or to interfere in controversies between other nations, members of the league or not, or to employ the military forces of the United States in such controversies or to adopt economic measures for the protection of any other country whether a member of the league or not, or against external aggression or for the purpose of coercing any other country, or for the purpose of intervention in the internal conflicts or other controversies which may arise in any other country, and no mandate shall issue to the United States under Article 22, part 1, of the treaty of peace with Germany, except the action of the congress of the United States."

"This reservation is intended to meet the most vital objection to the league covenant as it stands. Under no circumstances must there be any legal or moral obligation upon the United States to enter into war or to send its army and navy abroad or without the unfeigned action of congress to impose economic boycotts on other countries. Under the constitution of the United States, the congress has the power to declare war and all bills to raise revenue or affecting the revenue in any way must originate in the house of representatives, be passed by the senate and receive the signature of the president. These constitutional rights of congress must not be impaired by any amendments such as are presented in this treaty, nor can any opportunity of changing the United States with bad faith be permitted. No American soldiers or sailors must be sent to fight in other land sat the bidding of a League of Nations. American lives must not be sacrificed except by the will and command of the American people acting through their constituents in congress."

"This reservation also covers the subject of mandates. According to the provisions of the covenant of the league, the acceptance of a mandate by any member is voluntary, but as to who shall have authority to refuse to accept a mandate for any country the covenant of the league is silent.

"The decision as to accepting a mandate must rest exclusively within the control of the congress of the United States as the reservation provides, and must not be delegated, even by inference, to any member, agent or to any delegate or commissioner."

"The United States reserves to itself exclusively, the right to decide what questions are within its domestic jurisdiction and declares that all domestic and political questions relating to its affairs, including immigration, coastwise traffic, the tariff, commerce and all other domestic questions are solely within the jurisdiction of the United States and are not affected by any provision in any treaty either to arbitration or to the consideration of the council or of the assembly of the League of Nations, or to the decision or recommendation of any other power."

"The United States declines to submit for arbitration or inquiry by the assembly or by the council of the League of Nations provided for in said treaty of peace, any questions which in the judgement of the United States depend upon or relate to its long-established policy commonly known as the Monroe doctrine, save those which are to be interpreted by the United States alone, and are hereby declared to be wholly outside the jurisdiction of said League of Nations, any entirely unaffected by any provision contained in the said treaty of peace with Germany."

"The purpose of this resolution is clear. It is intended to preserve the Monroe doctrine from any interference or interpretation by foreign powers. This covenant of the League of Nations is an alliance and not a league of neutrals, as by the provisions of the treaty with Germany, which vests all essential power in five great nations. These same nations, the principal allies and associated powers, also dominate the league through the council.

witnessed the procession from chairs and bleachers placed along the streets.

The day had been declared a holiday in Columbus. All stores were closed during the parade.

Because of the warmth of the weather and the fear that many of the older veterans would succumb to the heat as they marched, elaborate arrangements had been made by army surgeons, Red Cross and Columbus physicians for the care of heat victims. Most of the attending physicians were on every corner of line of march. First in line were the veterans of Uncle Sam's victorious army which recently returned from overseas. The Ohio soldiers carried their battle flags for the last time before the flags will be put away in glass cases in the state capitol. Many of the young veterans marched in civilian clothes with their Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other war-workers.

FIRST DIVISION

dier General Bracquet of the French army, his officers and men were lined up on the docks and transhipped into a boat just before it sailed from Brest.

An epitome of America's fighting machine in Europe, the First division presented what military men say was the first parade of its kind in the country's history. That is, not only were the doughboys equipped with rifles, bayonets, picks, helmets, canteens, belts and ammunition, but every piece of the equipment, including the cookhouse, was in line, as well as the ammunition, rations, the rolling kitchens and other paraphernalia of a modern fighting unit.

Even the horses and mules, many of which had served throughout the war, were decorated with service stripes and all of the First's insignia, just as it was marked in France, was shown. The division's flags all bore the Croix de Guerre with which it was honored by the French nation, the 28th infantry having two of those emblems to its credit.

Machine guns of various types and sizes, tanks and mortars, grenade-throwing devices were parts of the parade exhibits and were viewed with proud wonderment by the crowds. Then there were the anti-aircraft guns whose muzzles often pointed skyward as if to bring down hostile flyers.

And the fighters who won distinction for gallantry and were presented with field and who fought in the war, and the red cross Lieutenant Colonel Clarence Heubner of the 28th who was a regular army sergeant when the war started. He was wounded at Soissons and left the hospital to reenter the battle. Another was Supply Sergeant Powell of Company M, also of the 28th who, despite his noncombatant duties frequently volunteered and in one engagement gained his title after every enlisted man and ranking officer of his detachment had been wounded or killed.

The units in the parade, in their order, besides the division headquarters and headquarters' troop, quartermaster and other similar branches, were the First machine gun battalion; Second signal battalion; First engineers and engineer train; First infantry brigade headquarters; 16th and 18th infantry; Second machine gun battalion; Second signal brigade headquarters; 20th and 23rd infantry; Third, Sixth and Seventh field artillery; train headquarters; motor cavalry unit; military police, motorized battalion; First ammunition train; First supply train; sanitary train; field hospital and motor transport corps.

The early rush of spectators resulted from police orders to clear Fifth avenue of all traffic at 9 o'clock and to stop subway and elevated trains a half hour later.

Units to secure the release from custody of his own private mount, "Kidron," General Pershing selected "Captain," the finest horse of the police department to carry him over the parade route—a mile two hours and a half.

All the overseas equipment of the first division was brought to New York to appear in the spectacle, but the camouflage paint designs were removed to a large degree and gave way to a sombre gray. Similarly all divisional insignias were erased according to a war department order. In fact, the animals in line had seen service and spectators could tell the new from the old, according to the service stripes on the harness of the old campaigning mules and horses.

URGES SALE OF PHILIPPINES TO JAPS FOR COLONY

Writer In Oriental Publication Says It Is America's Duty To Provide Place For Increasing Population

Tokio, Aug. 9.—(By Mail)—The suggestion that Japan purchase the Philippine Islands from the United States and the Dutch East Indies from Holland as a means of solving the problem of Japan's ever-growing population is made by a writer in the Herold of Asia, a conservative Japanese weekly journal. The writer pointed out that Japan is bound to expand territorially as she is increasing in population. Pointing out that the population has more than doubled in the last 50 years, being now over 57,000,000, he estimates that at the same rate of increase the population will in another 50 years have reached 114,000,000.

It is not too much to hope, he argues, that "soine day justice and destiny will decide that all the islands on this side of the Pacific, north of the equator, will come under the jurisdiction of Japan." He asks the question whether America intends to keep out Japanese emigrants and still hold the Philippines permanently. If not, why should she not some day sell them to Japan? He adds: "Having closed her own doors to the Japanese, this would be a gracious act on her part and one that would be but naturally expected from a country boasting of so much philanthropy and Christian altruism."

As for the Dutch East Indies the article contends, the inhabitants are more akin to the Japanese than to Holland and that Japan could administer the Islands with greater benefit on the whole to the people and to herself than could Holland, which, however, is a small country untroubled with surplus population.

It is pointed out also that the Dutch East Indies form the southern line of Japan's defenses and that more than one-half the population of these Islands has made the move to other fields.

After remarking that the Japanese do not like to settle in cold climates like Hokkaido or Siberia, the writer concludes: "Certainly it would be better to let Japan have them than to let them pass into other hands, a contingency that Japan would not contemplate. There was no surprise when America purchased the Danish West Indies. There should be no surprise if Japan should purchase the Dutch East Indies. Were Japan once in command of the Sunda straits she could slacken her naval program and feel at ease both as to defenses and population for all time to come."

LARKIN'S WORK IS CARRIED ON

Irish Union Leader Marooned in America, Left Able Lieutenants At Home To Harrass England.

Dublin, Aug. 21.—(By Mail)—James Larkin having cabled from the United States to his sister that he hoped soon to be at home in Ireland "with the old guard" there is some disappointment among his followers here because both the United States and British governments have refused him, as stated, the necessary passports.

The Irish Transport Workers' union was founded, meanwhile, has not stated why its activities in his absence and has caused a number of embarrassing and sometimes successful strikes. At present the harvest is in danger and the cattle trade is obstructed in the midland counties by transport union walkouts of the agricultural laborers, and in Dublin there is the novel feature of a strike of grave-diggers belonging to this union which has succeeded in closing the great Catholic cemetery at Glasnevin.

The report of the organization for the past year shows an increased membership from 43,783 to 68,827 in 210 branches. Total assets, $1,000,000 in credit on the year of nearly $90,000. Nearly $45,000 was paid out during the year in strike benefits. Larkin's most recent public appearance in America was at a socialist mass meeting in New York last June.

FOCH TAKES FIRST VACATION IN 5 YEARS

Paris, Aug. 25.—(By Mail)—Marshal Foch is enjoying the first holiday he has had in five years. On his estate at Morlaix, near Brest, the Generalissimo of the Allied armies is living the simple life, dressed in loose tweeds and wearing a cap, only retaining his leather leggings as a reminder of his uniform.

The marshal is a great lover of hunting and partridges are thick in the woods of Brittany. But the marshal disconsolately watches them flutter about with impunity. It will not be open season for hunting in France until September 15. It was open season for the enemy for five years and the commander-in-chief of the Allied armies was not allowed a day. Some newspapers are asking that an exception be made in favor of Foch, one of them adding naively that "as he has rendered slight service to his country, in ridding it of the Germans he might be allowed to derive its woods of a few partridges."

When it became known that Foch was going to Morlaix, the mayor and city councilors at once made elaborate plans for the reception. They assembled at the house of the mayor and commenced marching down the street when some one announced at the hour at which the train was due had passed.

"It matters not," said the mayor, "that Brest train is never on time."

They arrived at the station, however, to find that the train actually had come and gone for 25 minutes. For once it had been on schedule time. General Foch was aboard and he never brooks delay. And now Minister of Railways Claveille has lost a few votes in Morlaix for doing his work too well.

NEW CLASSES PLANNED AT "Y"

Two Groups For Business Men Have Been Arranged On Winter Gymnasium Schedule.

The season's gymnasium schedule at the Y. M. C. A. will be in full cry about October 1. The classes begin the week of Sept. 15.

The physical director says that all men and boys wishing to get the full benefit of the season's work should start at once so as to find their places in squads and teams. Lockers will be reassigned in the majority of cases, teams formed, and physical exams given, and if these are all attended to by October 1, so much the better for the individual and the class.

Two new classes appear on the schedule: the Busy Men's class, 5:30 to 6 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, and the Noon Men's class, 12 to 12:30. The Busy Men's class will be led by Secretary Grieser, and will follow a reconstruction type of work, games being secondary. Mr. Grieser's experience with the kind of work will be invaluable to the men of this class.

The regular business men's volley ball sessions will run as usual, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and the noon-day class will meet on the same days.

The Senior class of young men will meet Mondays and Thursdays at 7:30. So many of the young men are back from the service that this class is expected to resume its old time appearance. Basket ball will be separate from the class this year, as dissatisfaction arises over the inclination of some to turn a gym class into a basketball team. Special provision is made for basketball.

The Juniors come Tuesdays at 4, and Saturdays at 9, and the Preps Wednesdays at 4 and Saturdays at 10. It will be necessary for these latter to be on time, as the group system of lockers will prevent late comers from securing their gear, suits.

Swimming periods follow all gym classes. Only Senior members are permitted to swim on other occasions than class periods.

A new feature of the work this year will be the issuance of certificates of athletic records made during the season.

BONES OF WISE MEN IN COLOGNE CHURCH

Cologne, Aug. 18.—(By Mail)—A British army chaplain celebrated mass recently in the great Cologne cathedral at the altar of the relics of the Magi, the skulls of the three wise men who came from the East to visit the newly-born Saviour at Bethlehem. A number of American officers and men from the Coblenz area attended the services, and were permitted to view the relics.

Tradition says that the Empress Helena procured the bones, and took them to Constantinople, whence they were removed to Milan. In 1164 they were presented by Frederick Barbarossa to Archbishop Reinhard von Dusen, who took them to Cologne. At first they were kept in the Chapel of the Magi, the central chapel of the seven flanking the choir, but since the war they have been put away in the cathedral treasury, near the organ.

The bones are kept in a golden reliquary, a costly specimen of Romanesque craftsmanship in the form of a basilica, said to have been made about 1200 A. D. In the Cologne coat-of-arms three crowns are represented, the ownership of the Magi relics having suggested the design.

A FAIR COMPARISON.

We cannot but compare the absolute failure of congress as it is now constituted to meet the needs of the nation in those days of reconstruction, and the definite business-like course pursued by the President of the United States.

Congress has been in session for about four months and all the public has heard has been growls against something Democratic. They are growing down in Washington because the Democratic party was in power during the winning of the greatest war in the history of the world. They have lost all reason, all balances. It makes no difference what the administration did to win the war, they criticize and oppose such methods. It makes no difference what the President and his cabinet are doing to bring about return of pre-war conditions—they are against it. The American people are beginning to realize that the Republican party is in the hands of a leadership that is as Champ Clark said, a concentrated growl.

Now compare the action of congress with the work of the President who has turned every gun of the administration against the high cost of living who is endeavoring to bring the laboring men, the capitalist and the farmer to a ground of common understanding and purpose; who is fighting against all of the political schemers in the Republican party to bring about peace and a peace that will be lasting. Return to normal times can only come with peace and the peace that will endure. Business will not go ahead, labor cannot therefore achieve production and the chaotic state must continue as long as the Senatorial obstructionists place politics, prejudice and the desire for the 1920 presidency ahead of national welfare at all safety.

It is as true as it is that the earth is round the nation is coming to realize that election of a Republican president and congress in 1920 means endorsement of Republican leadership and tactics of today—something that America will never again wish upon herself.

Republican senators say Wilson should have placed some of the senators on the peace commission. If he had they would have said he was attempting thereby to bribe the senate. The senatorial policy is and has been and will be opposition to whatever the president does. In their eyes he will never do anything right, so senate criticism loses its weight.

HARVEY SMITH'S LITTLE GAME.

Harvey Smith, political sharpshooter and secretary of state, after making the appointments outside civil service that he is allowed by law, insists that he must have the cashier of the state auto department because he handles $3,000,000 of automobile tag money and therefore must be a trusted friend of the secretary. So in the interest of efficiency, etc., Harvey names a man who is completely deaf. Anyone who has business with the Smith appointee must write out his communication. And as to the $3,000,000, well it practically all comes in checks which are handled by subordinates and seldom does there titillate in a dollar in real money. It might be mentioned that among the civil service applicants for the place, who passed the examination and were certified by the civil service commission to the secretary were two men with banking experience and two former soldiers with war service.

Secretary Smith is making a very crude attempt to sidetrack the civil service law. It is the most flagrant attempt that has been made in recent years by a state official. Meanwhile the Smith appointee will not be paid because the civil service commission will not yield but Smith figures that he will get the money for his man by putting a bill through the legislature and from what we know about that legislature Smith is probably figuring about right.

SENATE AND TREATY.

Whether one believes in ratification of the peace treaty unreservedly, or with conditions, or not at all, there should be general agreement on this point that there has been too much delay. The longer this settlement is delayed, the harder to get the world back to normal conditions. The industries of Europe can not get to work until they know what the basis for business is going to be. And until the industries of Europe get busy, conditions will be upset in this country.

The foreign relations committee of the senate has spent two months in its preliminary consideration of the treaty. One month should have been sufficient. Now it is proposed to spend two months in debate. It would seem as if one month should be amply sufficient.

Most people by this time know what they think of the treaty. The senators ought to know and be ready to act. If they would spend a little less time listening with their ears to the ground, and a little more in fearless independent action, it would be possible to make a beginning on reconstruction work.

CANNING FOR WINTER.

(Ohio State Journal)
Notwithstanding the high cost of living, the women are putting in some form or other prodigious quantities of vegetables and fruits. It is quite common out our way to hear women say: "I've canned thirty quarts of tomatoes and one woman said she had put up two bushels. Corn and peaches have met with the same happy fate and there is no doubt but next winter the pantries will be loaded with creature comforts. They have had to pay high for peaches, corn and beans, but they seem to have money for them all. It seems mysterious that the high prices are accompanied by a comfortable possession of cash, but such is the fact. The problem is left for the economists to solve, and to demonstrate how it is that high prices let loose so much money. But however the case stands, the women are going to have plenty of tomatoes, corn and beans, not to say infinite jellies this winter. God bless them.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Care of the Hair.

Few women will take the time to give their hair the proper attention, yet we must, if we are to double the care if we desire to preserve its beauty. The hair should be shampooed frequently to free it from dust and oil which accumulate so quickly. Even more necessary than washing is airing the hair when the day is warm. Every morning the hair should be allowed to hang free and should be exposed to the sunlight for five or ten minutes so that the scalp will be thoroughly dried. At night braid the hair loosely and never twist or pin the braids about the head, as this is the surest way to split and thin your hair.

Before airing the hair, part it through the center from the forehead to the nape of the neck in order that the air and sun may circulate where it can, solder has a chance to reach. Then take a brush and divide the hair into small strands, brushing each strand separately and drawing the brush in long even strokes from the part to the ends.

The instant that you detect a sour odor about your hair it must be washed at once. This may mean that weekly shampoo will be needed but under no circumstances should it be allowed to remain in that condition. If there is a tendency to dandruff it is far better to shampoo the hair once a week than to wash longer and invite the dandruff. This mixture is recommended for oily hair: Scrape a cake of castile soap and melt it into a granite saucepan with a pint of boiling water. Then allow the pan to stand where it will keep warm until the soap has dissolved. Now add one ounce of alcohol and shake until thoroughly mixed.

The hair should be washed thoroughly in warm water twice and then rinsed in luke warm water until the soap is gone. Now rinse first in warm water and then in cold. Shake well and dry rubbing the hair with towels and allow the sunlight to stroke the hair for 20 to 25 minutes. If the hair is very heavy it should remain in the sunlight until very dry and fluffy.

FINDS MANY CHANGES IN TURKISH EMPIRE

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—Sergeant "Mike" Dorizas, former University of Pennsylvania wrestler and football player, as interpreter for the American Mandate commission, has been making a tour of Turkey and recent letters from him give interesting accounts not only of his personal experiences but of the vast changes that have taken place in the Ottoman empire since the war.

"In Constantinople," he writes, "one sees all kinds of soldiers, but the city is dead. The bazaar is full of warehouses of the allied nations; the shops are nearly empty, and the few remaining commodities are very costly. Food, though, is not more expensive than in France. 'The thing that impressed me most in the old capital was seeing Turkish women going about with their faces uncovered and riding in carriages with men and walking with men.' Things are changing even in the winter. I suspect the presence of the allied troops and the allied troops of war has made the women more courageous."

From Damascus, Sergeant Dorizas writes: "The men of the commission are working very hard and I am sure great good will come from their efforts. The commission is received everywhere with open arms and all want America to take an interest in their affairs."

AUDITORIUM

"Mickey" Drawing Crowds.

And still they come. The Auditorium yesterday held large crowds and "Mickey" with Mabel Normand is the magnet that will do something in motion pictures for Newark that never before was attempted, that of playing a picture for a full week. But "Mickey" is an exception for no photoplay has yet been produced so filled with adventure and thrills as "Mickey." The novelty and intensity of the thrills are indeed remarkable. Fatalities seem to be avoided by a hair's breadth—with a reality that is tremendously convincing.

There is thrill upon thrill and each thrill is just a little better than the last, until their climax, the audience is fairly brought to its feet out of sheer enthusiasm and excitement. The heart interest in "Mickey" has never been surpassed in motion picture history. Although the incidents attending Mickey's courtship are unusual, they are beautifully human and natural as love itself. The glorious romance, which starts in the early scenes, holds and fascinates to the happy ending. There is a deep, heartfelt appeal in the unaffected, wholesome love of this adorable little girl, and every human emotion, every element of life, is portrayed with genuine artistry by Miss Normand. So true and real is her work in this feature, that the audience loses themselves completely in her fascinating appeal. She has brought tears to hundreds in Newark during the past three day showing and at the very next moment they have been roaring with laughter. If you are not a regular patron of Mgr. Fenberg's playhouses, this is once you must be one, for "Mickey" runs the gamut of every human emotion expressed with mastery and sincerity never before equalled.

Bert Lytell Noted Athlete.

Bert Lytell, the distinguished Metro star of "One Thing at a Time" "O'Day," which will be the feature at the Auditorium theatre on Sunday next, has the distinction of being one of the cleverest all-around athletes that ever attended Upper Canada College, from which he graduated before entering the dramatic world. He won many cups on the running track and also excelled in rowing and jumping. He is fond of horseback riding and is a crack shot—in fact there is nothing in the line of sports with which he's not familiar.

"One Thing at a Time" "O'Day" is a clever comedy-drama of circus life, written by Wm. Dudley Pelly and published in the Saturday Evening Post. It gives Mr. Lytell a role which displays his great variety of talents.

The Hoodlum.

Mary Pickford's latest production from her own studios, "The Hoodlum," which will be seen commencing Monday at the Auditorium theatre, affords this famous star the opportunity of her screen career to combine the threads of comedy, romance, society life and tenement life in one production. Eastern critics have pronounced it the greatest toured the like, capturing a series of pictures of exceeding charm and appeal. This series, beautifully tinted by the Howe process, makes a splendid feature for Mr. Howe's anniversary program.

Sousa's Band.

It is a fact that the majority of human beings have a musical sense. To whistle or hum some kind of a tune is almost a universal instinct, and is the primitive musical impulse. This instinct usually takes the form that fits the rhythm of regular motion, something one can keep time to. The popularity of Sousa's Band.

Howe's Pictures.

Each year thousands of tourists journey to Charleston, S. C., to see the famous Magnolia Gardens, located near that picturesque and historic old city.

Lyman H. Howe's cameramen have succeeded in capturing the wondrous beauties of this fairyland in animated celluloid and the series will be shown as a feature of Mr. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Auditorium theatre soon, on its silver jubilee tour.

The Magnolia Gardens surround a placid and strikingly beautiful lake. Magnolia trees overhang its banks, the gnarled branches trailing with dense vines and moss, while the shores are a mass of colored blossoms. Sunlight, filtering through the trees, mirrors the whole fascinating picture on the lake's surface. Mr. Howe's cameramen

GRAND

"The Bishop's Emeralds." Widely heralded by Mr. Louis Meyer, president of Virginia Pearson Photo-plays, Inc., as the initial production of this organization especially founded to exploit the beauty and histrioic talents of Miss Virginia Pearson, "The Bishop's Emeralds" fulfills amply every promise made by the promoters of the enterprise. Every adjunct to success, both artistic and commercial, has been called into play by the producers and director. This wonderful first run picture, also Billy West in "The Chauffeur" will be run at the Grand theatre Thursday and Friday.

Over the Garden Wall.

Miss Bessie Love is making her farewell appearance in "Over the Garden Wall" at the Grand this evening. Too much cannot be said in favor of this picture. It depicts the maneuvering of the star, in her attempt to foil the thief who are trying to rob her father of his belongings, and to steal her sister from him. Marion Roche, who appeared in this picture yesterday were free in their statement that it was the best picture in which Miss Love has ever appeared. This one reel novelty is an added feature.

GEM

Madeline Traverse, who has already proved in this sooty her great ability as a screen actress, has been booked at the Gem theatre for Wednesday in a new William Fox photoplay called "When Fate Decides."

The play is described as giving Miss Traverse not only opportunity to display those unusual emotional powers that have drawn so large a following to this beautiful and stylish woman, but to prove again her exquisite taste in dress.

NORWAY RAT DISCOVERS AMERICA AND TAKES POSSESSION; HE'S A COSTLY GUEST

Government Experts Declare His Annual Board Bill Is $180,000,000—Besides That, His Feet Are Dirty and He Is Constant Menace To Health.

How do you like to give up one-half of one-cent every day for the support and sustenance of a measly brown rat?

In substance this is exactly what you are doing, according to figures compiled by the United States public health service following a careful study in cities where the service has made a survey.

There is one rat, at least, for every person in the United States. This estimate is considered conservative, but coincides with that for Great Britain and Ireland and also with authoritative figures for Denmark, France and Germany.

The annual up-keep per rodent was computed by the service as follows: $1.89 in Great Britain, $1.29 in Denmark and $1.00 in France. The deprecations in this country will very probably exceed the estimate for Great Britain. One-half a cent a day is considered conservative, but even on this computation it costs the United States $180,000,000 a year to support its rat population. (This does not include mice, which is the disappearance of the black rat, which is the only good the "Norway" rat ever accomplished. The black rat generally is considered more dangerous to the public health since it inhabits dwellings more often than its brown brother and comes in closer contact with man.)

This does not mean, however, that the brown, or "Norway" rat is not dangerous. His destruction has been necessary before plagues could be controlled in the few instances of its outbreaks in America. Also, he is probably responsible for the greatest amount of destruction.

By preference he is a burrower and usually lives in excavations, generally from one-half to a foot in depth. He is too cunning and resourceful to limit himself to this monotony of existence, however. He has been known to eat his way through a solid brick wall, a piece of slate, or lead-pipe. With cunning found in very few animals he adapts himself to almost any condition, or situation in life. When living in swampy regions he very quickly becomes semi-aquatic and can swim long distances. He can climb ropes, or trees.

The "Norway" rat will eat anything, whether the black rat is more select and prefers grain, or clean food. Because the rat is nocturnal in its habits its redactions very frequently are not noticed.

There are some very well authenticated instances which give a good insight into the cost of the up-keep of a ship carrying an American port from Brazil with 30,000 bags of coffee it was found that 30,000 bags had been so badly damaged as to require resacking. The cost of this in material and labor was $2000, exclusive of the loss of coffee and the damage adjustment with the ship-owners. The number of rats on this ship was ascertained to be about 200.

On a certain Iowa farm rats in one winter destroyed 500 bushels of corn, or one-fourth of the farmer's entire crop.

Another farmer lost an entire summer's supply of wheat, and still another farmer in this section estimated his loss in grain and poultry due to rats as sufcient to pay his taxes for three years.

Many measures are suggested for destroying the rat, but the public health service advocates one primarily as most effective. It is rat-proofing the buildings so that rats cannot get in to get food, thereby starving them to death.

AN OVERBURDENED MOTHER. If the steps a mother takes and the work she does could only be measured by figures, what an array they would make. Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering from backache pain in side, headache, nervousness and sleeplessness, symptoms of more serious ailments perhaps. Women of all ages and sex, however, have found relief from suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letter of recommendation continually being published in this paper.—Advt.
